

Sexual Abuse in Australia and New Zealand

Volume 5, Number 1, May 2013

CONTENTS

EDITORIAL

K. Seidler 1

ARTICLES

The Good Lives Model (GLM) in Theory and Practice 3
G. M. Willis, D. S. Prescott, & P. M. Yates

Can We Sensibly Combine Dynamic and Actuarial Assessment? A Comment. 10
C. J. Lennings

Offering an Alternative: The Challenges of Working in a Group Context in a Private Practice 15
K. Seidler, & R. Nasr

Whispering to Horses: Childhood Sexual Abuse, Depression and the Efficacy of Equine Facilitated Therapy 24
T. Signal, N. Taylor, H Botros, K. Prentice, & K. Lazarus

Psychological and Behavioural Characteristics of Females Who Sexually Offend: Insights From Psychotherapeutic Work in New Zealand 33
M. Robson, & I. Lambie

A Brief Report of the Characteristics of Adolescents with Identified Sexually Abusive Behaviours Referred to a Forensic Child and Youth Mental Health Service 40
T. Withington, J.M. Ogilvie, & B. D. Watt

A Review of the Evidence for the Use of Polygraphy in the Supervision and Management of Community Based Sexual Offenders: An Australian Context. 45
L. B. Madsen, & S. Addison

Policing Indecent Images of Children. What are the Critical Issues Surrounding Police Risk Assessment? 52
F. Brown, & M. R. Kebbell